Please contact in all data protection related matters: tietosuoja@turkuamk.fi

The messages sent to this address are processed by the Data Protection Officer (DPO) and a data protection specialist working with them and as their substitute.

Purpose of processing personal data

We process the personal data collected from the user (in connection with registration in the visitor network) for individualization/identification of the user and for creating the login ID for the service and, in possible fault situations, contacting them via email.

We process log data to offer the wireless network. The collected log is used for the maintenance and development of the wireless network and for investigating fault situations and misconducts.

Legal basis for processing personal data

Collecting personal data is necessary for transmitting communications, implementing a service, and ensuring information security. Sections 138 and 272–273 in the Information Society Code (2014/917).

According to Section 146 of the Information Society Code (2014/917), a community subscriber has the right to process traffic data in cases of misuse.

According to Section 17 of the Act on Information Management in Public Administration (2019/906), log data shall be compiled if use of the information system requires identification or other login.

Processed categories and storage times of personal data

Users of the visitor network on Turku UAS' campuses

Collected data: login ID of the user (email address), IP address, MAC address; times and locations of the network sessions.

The login ID is stored for 30 days. Log data is stored for 3 months.

Regular information sources

The personal data has been obtained from the data subjects themselves and the terminal device used by the data subject.

Receivers or receiver groups of personal data

Personal data is not disclosed to third parties, excluding requests by authorities.

Essential information regarding transfer of data to third countries (outside the EU or EEA countries)

The data is not transferred to third countries.

Principles of data protection

The data is accessed only by people whose tasks require access to the data. Access to the service is limited with user IDs and user rights.

Data subjects' rights

According to the General Data Protection Regulation, the data subject has the right:

- to receive information on the processing of their personal data, unless otherwise regulated by the law
 - to request for access to their personal data and rectification regarding incorrect or insufficient information
 - to erase their data (not applied, if the basis for processing is compliance with a legal obligation or performance of a task conducted in the public interest)
 - to restrict the processing of their data
 - to object to the processing of their data, if the basis for processing is general or legitimate interest
 - to request the transfer of data they have submitted themselves from one controller to another, if the basis for processing is consent or agreement
 - withdraw the consent they have given
 - notification obligation of the controller on the rectification/erasure/restricting of processing of personal data

- not to be subject to automated decision-making (the data subject may allow automated decision-making by their consent)

Data subjects may exercise their rights by contacting the contact person mentioned in the privacy notice or the Data Protection Officer. More information on data subjects' rights is provided by the contact person and/or Data Protection Officer.

If processing the data does not require identifying the data subject without additional information or the controller cannot recognize the data subject, the right to inspection, rectification, data erasure, restriction of processing, obligation to report and transmittal is not applied.

You have the right to file a complaint with the Data Protection Ombudsman's office, if you consider that valid data protection legislation has been breached in processing your personal data. The contact details of the DPO can be found in the beginning of the privacy notice. All requests are processed on a case-by-case basis.
